U. S. COAST GUARD MEN LEAD EXCITING LIVES

Glendalian is Killed at U. P. Crossing in Forest Lawn Cemetery

Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Glendale Citizens Must Open Their Hearts and Do Their Part

GLENDALE citizens are at the present time being given the opportunity of subscribing to the Welfare Chest, a drive for funds now being in progress. That they are generously supporting the drive goes without argument. Glendale citizens are noted for the manner in which they support every worth-while movement. The task of giving every citizen the opportunity of taking part in this worth-while project, however, is a mammoth one, and will take some mighty hard and fast work to put it over in so short a time as four days. If the citizens who have not yet been called on will study over their finances and make up their minds as to what amount they are going to subscribe, considerable time will be saved the workers.

* * *

IN ARRIVING at the amount of subscription the donors should take into consideration that this drive takes the place of fourteen possible separate ones for there are that number of beneficiaries, and in most cases each of these organizations in the past has been financed by funds secured through the means of a separate drive such as this one. You should not figure on giving the amount you gave last year to one organization but add up the total given by you to all of these fourteen along with any others not listed.

The funds secured at this time will do away with any demands on your pocketbook until November, 1924.

OPEN YOUR heart and carry your share by giving freely to the Glendale Welfare Chest when called on by a solicitor for your subscription.

EAGLE ROCK now comes forward with another $40,000 building permit. This permit was taken out yesterday for the erection of a store building on Colorado boulevard.

Eagle Rock, Glendale and Burbank are all showing their heels to every other city in the country in growth in the classes to which they belong, with Glendale forging ahead in the building of homes and Burbank leading in factories.

* * *

EAGLE ROCK will in all probability be a city of homes as factory sites are not available. This is true to a lesser degree in Glendale. Burbank is better tisuated, however, as to ground available for factory use and is indeed fortunate. The future of these three communities is assured. Glendale and Burbank are fast growing into cities of considerable size and importance, while Eagle Rock is becoming a preferred residence section of Los Angeles.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH OF EAGLE ROCK TO BUILD

The trustees of the First methodist church have been trying to find a suitable location on which to build their new church. For the past month efforts have been made to narrow the choice down and they are now about ready to decide. The transaction will be cash and the finance committee is working on that end of it now.

The present property will be sold as soon as a suitable offer is made for it. This, with private subscriptions, will give several thousand dollars surplus and a fine building is assured. Last Sunday the largest congregation in the history of the church was present and this makes it imperative that a new building be erected very soon.

BURBANK KIWANIS TO SPONSOR CLUB FOR TUJUNGA

Representatives of the Kiwanis club last night attended a meeting at Tujunga for the purpose of sponsoring a Kiwanis club there. This meeting was held with some of the prominent business men and plans and means were discussed for formulating the club. Nothing definite was decided upon and further meetings will be held. Those attending from Burbank were Interstate Representative Frank Keen, Bert Lewis, Coffie Coffman, Bob Powell, Tony Gage and Ezra Christensen.

U. S. COAST GUARD MEN LEAD LIVES OF EXCITEMENT

Chase Rum Runners. Save Lives In Shipwrecks. And So On

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Chasing rum runners is not the only excitement in the life of a member of the United States coast guard, the activities of which, made public today in an internal revenue report, embrace a line of endeavor of numerous kinds in saving life and property at sea.

Some of the achievements of the coast guard during the last fiscal year were listed in this way:

Lives saved or persons rescued from peril, 2,792.

Persons on board vessels assisted, 16,253.

Persons in distress cared for, 648.

Vessels boarded and papers examined, 31,653.

Fines and penalties incurred by vessels reported, $267,701.

Derelicts and other obstructions to navigation removed, 46.

Value of vessels and cargoes assisted, $51,436,095.

Value of derelicts recovered and delivered to owners, $110,000.

The number of vessels seized or reported for law violations during the year was 2,106, against 506 for the preceding year. No explanation was made in the report as to how many of these craft were rum runners.

Valuable work was done by the ice patrol squadron, the report said, in warning vessels of the dangers of icebergs in ocean travel lanes.

Forty-three coast guard cutter men lost their lives in performing their duties during the year and there were 23 medals of honor awarded for life saving.

The report recommended the retirement of the famous cutter Bear, the central figure in numerous thrilling rescues in the Arctic. The Bear is nearly 50 years old and it is desired to replace her with a more modern ship.

HON. JOSEPH SCOTT GIVES ADDRESS AT 'OXY'

Hon. Joseph Scott, president of the Sunset Club spoke in the Occidental Chapel yesterday. Mr. Scott is a prominent attorney of Los Angeles, a leader of the Los Angeles bar, and a leader in the social life of the city.

His talk was most interesting, dealing mainly with the boosting of California.

One of the most interesting parts was when he told of attending a convention in which all the members on the program told what a wonderful city and state they had. He was the 22nd speaker on the list and about 2:30 in the morning his turn arrived, and so he told them that if Columbus had landed on the Pacific Coast, New York would not have been discovered yet.

Special Meeting Of Glendale C. of C.

A special meeting will be held tomorrow night by directors of the chamber of commerce. This will be the last regular business meeting before the retirement of six members of the present board. An effort will be made to wind up as much business as possible at this session. Although the membership of the chamber of commerce is now over 900, votes for the new directors are now coming in slowly.

"Every member entitled to vote," suggested Secretary E. F. Sanders, "should do so."

Benefit Fund of Police, Firemen, Is Added to

The Glendale Firemen and Policemen's Benefit fund yesterday was enriched by $25. This amount was paid by William C. Benter of Los Angeles as a reward for the recovery of his Ford touring car. It was stolen from Third and Figueroa streets, Los Angeles, and abandoned at 1108 North Central avenue, Glendale.

WAITE OF SHAWNEE, OKLA., BREEZES INTO GLENDALE

Ewin R. Waite of Shawnee, Oklahoma, breezed into the Glendale Daily Press office like one of the refreshing zephyrs of the famous "sooner" state. He is the man who has put Shawnee on the map all over the United States by his quaint observations under the caption "Do You Know That—" As secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of his thriving city he has done more than any other man to enhance its growth.. And he has been most generous in sending out information of his methods as a booster to the newspapers all over the nation.

Mr. Waite radiates prosperity and fairly beams happiness. His eyes were not closed when he walked about over the city of Glendale and here is what he observed: "Your city is running like a winner. It is plain to be seen that your business men are filled with optimism, tempered with conservatism, and they realize that the building of a city is a partnership affair with every citizen a partner, and none of them refuse to lend assistance. Your city is one with a great future because you are looking ahead, planning ahead and forging ahead. It is a live, hustling center of energy and business."

BURBANK KIWANIS HAS WEEKLY LUNCHEON

R. D. White of Glendale Grammar Schools Is Speaker

The Kiwanians held their regular weekly luncheon and meeting at the Elizabeth hotel yesterday. The delicious luncheon was given under the auspices of and was served by the Woman's club. Richardson D. White, superintendent of the Glendale schools, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Schools of Today." In order to better emphasize his points he appointed Bert Lewis as judge and the other members as the jury and placed himself as the defendant in his speech. Four of the points which he dwelt on were "Too many subjects being taught in the public schools"; "too many pupils attending school too long"; "outlay for schools requiring too much money" and "children of today are far superior and so much farther advanced in learning than those of the olden times."

The hours of the luncheon have been changed from 12:15 to 12:05. The next luncheon will take place in the Elizabeth hotel and will be served by the Woman's club.

GLENDALE HAS SEVERAL SERIOUS AUTO COLLISIONS

Several automobile collisions occurred yesterday afternoon in Glendale.

While the full moon blinked upon the northeast corner of Cerritos avenue and Brand boulevard about 8:15 p. m., I. B. Carlock of 415 Lincoln street crashed into a lamp post. He sated that he was obliged to drive up on the east curbing in order to avoid a "reckless" motorist who was determined to pass him regardless of what happened. Mr. Carlock, who is in the haberdasher at 135½ South Brand boulevard, today is being queried in regard to the incident.

Guy D. Wiggins of Tujunga was driving north on Brand boulevard at Elk avenue earlier in the afternoon. Another car got in the way and in order to avoid it, Mr. Wiggins turned his machine and its rear wheel was struck by the automobile of T. C. Cones of Los Angeles.

Another collision occurred at 3:30 p. m., between an automobile driven by Marie R. Buckley of 367 West Wilson avenue, which was going north on Brand boulevard, and another driven by J. F. Gunn of Los Angeles which was going west on Colorado street. The front axle of Mr. Gunn's car was bent and it had be to towed to a garage.

AMERICANIZATION CONSIDERED BY TUESDAY CLUB

Roll Call Is Answered With Thanksgiving Thoughts

Happier choice of a topic for the program of the literature section of the Tuesday Afternoon club at its meeting held on Wednesday of this, American Education week, than that of "Americanization," could not have been made. Special guests were members of the American citizenship and legislation section, of which Miss Ida Myers is curator.

The program was preceded by a short business session in charge of Mrs. H. C. Wilcox, curator, during which she thanked the members for their hearty co-operation at the club's society circus. Roll call was answered with Thanksgiving thoughts by the following members: Mrs. H. C. Wilcox, Mrs. T. G. McDougall, Mrs. V. Rapp, Mrs. H. S. Garlinghouse, Mrs. E. Cleophas, Mrs. Edith Fessenden, Mrs. Edgar Leavitt, Mrs. Helen Sawyer, Mrs. Frankie A. Webb, Mrs. J. A. Dolton, Miss Mae Lyon, Miss Mary Dalrymple, Mrs. G. H. Schulte, Mrs. Woodbury, Mrs. R. L. Adamson, Mrs. Alfred Smith, Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth, Mrs. Veitch, Miss Mary Rhodes and Mrs. G. H. Rowe.

Mrs. Ralph Penland, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Helen Sawyer, favored those present with two vocal numbers, "A Song of Thanksgiving" (Allitsen) and "Oh, Moon Upon the Water" (Cadman). Mrs. Schulte gave a very interesting paper on some of the important features of "Americanization." She brought out in her talk that it was not only the ideals of government in this country that brings and holds the foreigner, but it is the American life, American peo-

POSSIBILITY OF REDUCING SEWER COST DISCUSSED

The possibility of reducing the cost of the main sewer line was discussed yesterday at a conference in the Los Angeles city hall.

Glendale was represented by Councilman W. A. Horn, W. E. Hewitt, chairman of the sewer committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Chester Smith and C. S. Himanus, who are connected with the firm of Burns &McDonnell.

Los Angeles was represented by Charles Knowlton, sewer engineer, and H. A. VanNorman, engineer for the outfall sewer system.

"The attitude of the Los Angeles officials is very favorable towards Glendale," stated Mr. Horn. "You would think that they were our own engineers."

Types of sewer mains were discussed and the announcement was made that specifications will permit the presentation of bids for several different types."

January 8 has been set for the local election.

NATION-WIDE CANVASS BY ST. MARK'S CHURCH

The nation-wide campaign, a canvass of the entire membership of the Episcopal church, will be conducted next Sunday afternoon, November 25. Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's church, of Glendale has organized the men of the parish into teams to call on every Episcopal family in the community, and has requested that the members of the parish remain at home between 2 and 5 Sunday afternoon, to facilitate the work.

On Sunday morning at the regular church school hour will be held the annual "Ingathering Service," when the children will bring gifts of food and money for the Church Home for children located in Ganvanza and conducted by Deaconess Wile. At this hour, also, Deaconess Clark and Mrs. Reifsneider, who have recently returned from the Chinese and Japanese mission fields will talk to the school.

WELFARE CHEST TOTAL CLIMBS SLOWLY

Optimistic Addresses at Luncheon Today Add Pep, However.

Only $7,822 had been raised up until noon today for Glendale's Welfare chest.

This total was reported at the luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium held under the auspices of the Rotary club.

Rev. E. E. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the "stimulant."

"You are here to help plan how you can help those who are less fortunate than ourselves," he remarked. "The best thing in life is not the living and the getting but when you get an opportunity to help somebody. There are great ideals but they are useless unless they are put into action.

"I am proud to be a Glendalian. No such company of men and women can get together on an occasion like this without congratulation. It is God's ambition that those who are strong should help the weak."

E. R. Waite, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Shawnee, Oklahoma, expressed his opinion that Glendale is great not because of her resources but because of her citizenry. He stated that a welfare chest is working very satisfactorily in his community.

"The spirit of co-operation shown in your city has done wonders," he remarked. "You know that if you don't pull together you will fall together."

The seriousness of the campaign was emphasized by W. E. Hewitt of 319 East Randolph street, president of the Welfare council.

"This campaign is for the good of ourselves, individually and collectively," he admitted. "We are making Glendale a fit place in which to continue to live."

Relief work after the recent fire in Berkeley was commented upon in view of the fact that the Red Cross is one of the beneficiaries under the Welfare chest.

Rotary guests included Curt Miller of Burbank, Jerome B. Pendleton of San Diego, Bayard Byrne, Charles E. Benson, Otto G. Wildey and Arthur M. Loomis, all of Los Angeles.

SAFETY DEVICE NEEDED AT WEST PARK CROSSING

Believing that a safety device is need to insure the protection of the public at the Park avenue crossing of the Southern Pacific tracks, Mrs. Lillian Peckham contributes the following communication:

"Please avoid another accident by having a signal at West Park avenue and the Southern Pacific tracks. Hundreds of people cross at that intersection every day. The late J. W. M. Burton was the only witness when a man was killed there a few months ago. I saw a cow have its back broken at the same intersection and as you cannot hear the train coming from the north until it is nearly upon you, and as I have occasion to cross the tracks there several times a week, I ask that immediate steps be taken for the protection of the people."

BURBANK'S NEW LOMA THEATER OPENS TONIGHT

The Loma theater will open its doors to the public tonight in an initial performance at 6:45 with the opening picture to be featured "Strangers of the Night." Music lovers will delight in the five-piece orchestra which will play at the Loma permanently with A. F. Minor, director and violinist; Mrs. F. R. Losee, piano; F. R. Losee, drums; Frank Miller, saxophone, and Miss Egloff, cello. A photoplay organ has been installed and is the very latest word in organs. Mr. Paulson of Los Angeles will play the organ. A number of latest releases have been procured.

GLENDALE VOTERS MUST REGISTER TO VOTE ON BONDS

Residents of Glendale should not forget to register before December 8, if they wish to vote for the sewer bonds. No, let us not put it that way. Let's simply say they must register before December 8 as of course everyone of them desires and intends to vote in this, the most important election in Glendale's history. It is not too much to say that Glendale's slogan of "the fastest growing city in America" is in danger, yes, serious danger, if this bond issue for sewers is not approved by the voters. An adequate sewer system means factories, hotels and industries of all kinds. Shall we abdicate our proud position as "fastest growing city" to Alhambra or some other equally ambitious rival whose citizens have a more farseeing vision than Glendale's? Awake in your might, O ye Glendalians and decide, by your votes for sewer bonds that the crown and scepter shall not be wrested from us.

Just as a reminder, let us state again that you can register, among other places, at the Security Savings bank, southwest corner of Brand and Broadway, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., at the chamber of commerce from 3 to 5 p. m., and at the Daily Press office from 8 to 5 p. m. every day—this evening to 6:30 p. m., tomorrow night until 8 p. m.

Remember, if you have moved since you last registered, or if you have not registered since January 1, 1922, you must re-register.

Bring your yellow slips if you have them.

GLENDALE SEWERS BOND ELECTION SET FOR JAN. 8

The date of the sewer bond election for Glendale is set for January 8, so all who would vote on this important question must register before December 8. Remember, California voters must registery every even year. If you have not done so since January 1, 1922, or if you have moved since, you must register.

The entire San Fernado valley, of which Glendale is the gateway, is interested in this sewer being put through, for it will serve not only Glendale but other communities of the valley. It will mean more industries and more big buildings for Glendale.

If you cannot register during the day, come to the Daily Press office, 333 North Brand, any evening except Sunday up to December 8, and you will find a deputy registrar on duty as late as 8 o'clock.

You must register if you would vote.

IMMANUEL FOUR IN FINE PROGRAM AT NEW CHURCH

A crowd which filled to overflowing the social hall of the new Glendale Presbyterian church at the corner of Harvard and Louise applauded to the echo the fine program presented Tuesday night by the Immanuel quartet as their gift and courtesy to the new church.

The young men constituting the organization were heard here in the Tuesday Afternoon club house when William Jennings Bryan lectured there recently. They are graduates of the Bible Institute and have adopted modern minstrelry as a career, their program including tours of the United States, giving concerts which will feature sacred songs, negro spirituals and saxophone numbers.

Dr. Edmonds, pastor of the church, announced that this concert was the first of a series of entertainment of high class, free to the public, which will be given in the social rooms of the new church throughout the winter. that the community may share the benefits of the fine social equipment.

He also stated that plans are well advanced for the dedication program to be given December 16. The decoration of the auditorium is nearly completed, the hardwood floors are being laid, the pews are here and will soon be set. In short, the final touches will all have been given before the date mentioned, which will be so eventful in the history of this aggressive and rapidly growing church. H. L. Finley, superintendent of the Sunday school, also has a nearly completed outline of the big Christmas program planned for this year.

F. E. LITZENBERGER KILLED BY U. P. TRAIN

Steps on Track Right In Front of Engine, Both Legs are Cut Off

F. E. Litzenberger of 126 West Cypress street about 7:30 this morning was run over near Forest Lawn park, Glendale, by a northbound locomotive hauling No. 42 on the Union Pacific.

Both legs were cut off just below the hips but Mr. Litzenberger was conscious when reached by the train crew. He did not seem to realize how badly he had been injured and inquired if they could help him to his home. A few minutes later he was dead.

At the time of the accident, Mr. Litzenberger was walking along the main road about 50 feet east of the office on his way to work. His lunch basket was hurled in one direction and his cap in another.

According to Engineer Chamberlain, Mr. Litzenberger stepped directly in front of the locomotive. He was unable to stop the train in time to avoid the collision but applied the brakes immediately. The victim was dragged about 50 feet or more before the train came to a stop.

It should be remembered that the track is built on a very narrow right of way that cuts across the southwest corner of the cemetery grounds. A train from Los Angeles comes out upon the crossing of the main east and west road through the grounds from between rows of trees with dense foliage, but it is hard to conceive how Mr. Litzenberger could fail to hear the loud puffing of the locomotive as it climbs the steep grade through the cemetery. It was thought he was studying deeply over some problem which made him oblivious to all his surroundings.

Mr. Litzenberger was employed by Contractor J. B. Smith of 320 West Maple street as a plasterer. Since October 16 he has been busy working on the Forest Lawn Mausoleum.

The body was taken to the mortuary of L. G. Scovern. The time of the inquest has not been set by Coroner William A. Nance.

The train was in charge of Conductor G. D. Brown. Engineer Frank Chamberlain and Fireman J. Hone were in the cab. All of the trainmen live in Los Angeles.

PHYSICIANS' CLUB MEETING HELD YESTERDAY

Dr. P. T. Magan was the guest of the Glendale Physicians' club at luncheon Wednesday at the Egyptian Village cafe.

Giving the result of his experience in hospital management, it was brought out that, at least in institutions caring for patients of little means, the problem was one of keeping the cost low and the standard of service high, he stated.

"The strict interpretation of the state laws with reference to eight hours of service in the 24 sometimes made it difficult to care for emergency and routine worn satisfactorily and at the same time avoid keeping so large a staff of help that the cost was prohibitive. The compensation for the effort, however, was afforded by the appreciation shown when a smoothly working organization made it possible to care for the patient in moderate circumstances, giving efficient services, with modern X-ray and clinical laboratory studies without the resources of the patient being taxed to the limit."

A daily report system from every department is made in the White Memorial hospital, of which Dr. Magan is the head. This gives information to the chief about all critical cases, complaints and disagreements that may occur, as well as serving to keep the medical director in touch with both patient and attending physician.

In closing, a vote of thanks was extended to Dr. Magan for addressing the club.

Until further notice, all meetings of the Physicians' club will be at noon, this hour being most favorable to the majority of members.

NEW NORTHEAST REALTY BOARD AT DINNER

Distinguished Speakers Make Affair Most Enjoyable

It is seldom given to the residents of northeast district of Los Angeles an evening so filled with pleasure and brilliant speeches as when the newly-organized North East realty board of Los Angeles entertained some two hundred guests at a dinner, given at the Ebell club house.

The meeting was preceded by a musical program, after which the guests were served dinner by the Ebell club ladies in their very spacious dining room on the second floor of the club house.

Mr. Sheppard ,president of the Southwest realty board, first speaker of the evening, detailed the working system of the organization and fully explained the multiple listing service which is being used by most of the large real estate associations throughout the city. The local Northeast realty board considers the multiple listing system as part of the new association in the forming at present.

Following Mr. Sheppards' explanation he very graciously offered to answer questions for 15 minutes. The interest was so keen that the 15 minutes allotted for this purpose grew into a half hour. Mr. Sheppard strongly accentuated the fact that in adopting multiple listing any organization must have full cooperation from every member as it is entirely a cooperative proposition. The listing of property is made exclusively with board members for a certain term to run indefinitely unless canceled after that time by the owner. Each listing is then delivered to every member of the board, which in the case of the Northeast realty board would be at least 200 dealers. This protects owner, dealer and broker

ROLAND SQUARE NO. 2 SUBDIVISION NOW ON MARKET

The beautiful Roland Square subdivision having been sold out, the J. R. Grey Realty company, 124 North Brand, announces the opening of Roland Square No. 2, lying between Thompson avenue on the east, and Allen avenue on the west, with the Pacific Electric line and San Fernando road furnishing the north and south boundaries, respectively.

The original subdivision, near the Patterson Avenue park, was entirely sold out in less than a year, and more than sixty permanent homes now grace the once grape-covered land. Values have doubled in No. 1, and Mr. Grey states that Roland Square No. 2 is bound to increase rapidly, a raise in prices being already announced for December 1. Fourth street, the northern boundary of the tract, is a 130-foot boulevard, now being paved from Burbank to Glendale, making it the Brand boulevard of the northwest section.

The proximity of San Fernando road, the main artery from Los Angeles north, is a big asset to the tract, and is soon to be widened to a 100-foot boulevard.

"This tract is ideal for home life" states Mr. Grey, "having schools and churches nearby, is served by both trolley and bus lines and is very close to Glendale's industrial section, another addition to its value." Each lot is covered with full grown Zinfandel grape vines and the ground is exceptionally fertile.

Several business lots on both San Fernando road and Fourth street may now be had on splendid terms, and, Mr. Grey states, there is a great deal of profit to be made on both these and on the residence lots.

SPANISH WAR VETS AND AUXILIARY IN REGULAR MEET

Members of the Glendale post, Spanish War Veterans, enjoyed a very profitable and pleasant session Wednesday night when two members were initiated, Scott L. Shook and Willard S. Tetra.

Nominations were made for officers for the coming year who will be elected the first Wednesday in December and installed the first Wednesday evening in January, L. D. Pike of Van Nuys being the only nominee for commander.

An invitation was accepted from Ensign Bagley camp and auxiliary of Pasadena which will entertain the Glendale camp Friday night at the K. of P. hall in Pasadena, corner of Raymond and Colorado streets.

There was a good attendance on the meeting and also on the session of the auxiliary which acted as hostess at a social hour during which refreshments were served, following the business sessions of the two organizations.

At the meeting of the auxiliary, which also accepted the invitation from the Pasadena camp and auxiliary, Mrs. Ralph Handel was initiated.

A small admission charge of 50 cents will be made.

CROFTON'S FAMOUS ONE-CENT SALE TO CLOSE SATURDAY

Crofton's famous one-cent sale of shoes, which started on Monday of this week, will come to a close on Saturday night, giving you just two more days in which to obtain a pair of high grade shoes for a penny.

All you have to do is to buy one pair of shoes at the already low regular price, and, by adding another penny to this price, another pair of shoes can be had, giving you two pairs for the price of one, plus the cent.

The sale has been a decided success, hundreds flocking to the store to avail themselves of this exceptional offer, but the stock has been amply replenished for these two big wind-up days, and the selection is very large.

Many high grade shoes are included in this sale, several new importations in ladies' footwear having been received from the east. Several extra salespeople are in charge to give you quick service and to fit you right with two good pairs of shoes for the price of one.

PIANO EXCHANGE IS LAUNCHING UNIQUE SALE

The Piano Exchange, 112 West Broadway, is now launching an important sale. This is done by offering the first $50 payment on any piano for $25, or in fact, on any amount up to fifty dollars, this two-for-one offer is good.

The regular prices have in no way been raised, this being a real hundred percent offer. Every piano in stock is offered in this extraordinary sale, including players, grands and uprights.

"Ever since the war," stated Mr. Brown, manager, "the people have been trying to make one dollar do the work of two, and we are now endeavoring to make this possible on a small scale. The holidays are approaching, and many people will want to take advantage of this offer."

The sale will continue for several days.

The Piano Exchange has at the present time one of the largest stocks of high-grade pianos in Glendale, several carloads recently arriving from the main store in Los Angeles, and the stock is complete in every detail.

When this branch opened several months ago it was on a very small scale, but the business has grown to such a volume that the present quarters are quite outgrown and a larger building will be obtained in the near future.

Three new families became Glendale residents due to this store, moving here on its opening. Frank W. Brown and wife, W. W. Brown and family, and Arleigh Brown have moved to Glendale. The men are all members of the corporation.

There will also be musical numbers and an exhibit of school work.

SELLING FAST IS NEW GLENDALE HEIGHTS TRACT

Glendale Heights Extension, the southern foothill tract which opened last Sunday, is selling out, reports the Hope-Hardin-Weldon Realty company, agents, nearly half the lots being sold or spoken for on the opening day. Hundreds of Glendalians visited the tract Sunday and marveled at the wonderful view obtained of both Los Angeles and the San Fernando valley. The tract, located as it is in the foothills at the end of Adams street, commands one of the most complete views of the San Fernando valley that can be had in Glendale, and is a great asset to the tract.

Its proximity to the Pacific Electric buses, and also to the five-cent yellow car line into Los Angeles make it one of the choicest bits of foothill property in Glendale. It is served by a large grammar school just over the hill, while the buses will take you to the new $600,000 high school in less than five minutes.

Opening prices still prevail, but a rise is inevitable in the near future and the range of prices is within the reach of everyone. The lots are all sold on very convenient terms and water, gas, curbs and paving are all included. The tract office will be found at the corner of Adams and Palmer streets.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Andresen of 631 North Orange street returned Tuesday night from a week's trip in the north. They attended the Kiwanis convention, which was held at Fresno. On their way home they stopped in Hanford for a few days with friends.

Builders' Exchange Meets Friday Night

The Builder's Exchange of Glendale will hold a regular meeting tomorrow night in its exchange rooms, 113 North Maryland avenue, at 8 o'clock, and as a number of applications for membership are to be considered it is the desire of the officers to have all members present.

At this meeting action on the formation of the Burbank division of the local exchange will be taken, a large delegation of Burbank contractors and material dealers having signified their intention of being present, and due to the activities in the building industry in Burbank as well as Glendale, the wisdom of an active organization in the field as is the Builder's Exchange, cannot be over estimated.

"If Builders' Exchange as a solid organization could do for its members everything it plans to do it would be wonderful, and if the members would contribute their little part and help induce others to follow suit, Builders' Exchange would find it easier to do all that it plans to do," states the secretary-manager, Henry Molz.

Glendale Heights Extension Is Selling

You should have seen the response Sunday to our invitation to visit Glendale Heights Extension.

People were walking over the addition all day long, enjoying the view from this vantage point or that. Here and there Glendalians could be seen looking about in earnest inspection. It was to be their future home—a place for the baby to romp, a spot they could call home—their future happiness. Invariably they found from the wide choice of lots and prices the site of their hearts' desires. You can find yours there, too.

Have you yourself been on this hill, "topped with the eucalyptus grove." You've no conception of the wonderful view of Glendale, the San Fernando Valley, the mountains and the surrounding country, until you have actually seen it from this crowning beauty spot.

So many exclaim when they get onto our tract: "Why, I've passed this hill a hundred times but never dreamed there was such a beautiful panorama below it." Come out and see it. It will not obligate you in the least but if you are like the rest, its irresistable charm will carry you with it, too.

Opening prices still prevail—very cheap and on convenient terms. Prices range from $1000 to $2500—a few are higher, some lower. Prices include water, gas, curb and paving.

Take P. E. bus or auto to Adams and Palmer Ave. Our tract office is there. We'll be glad to show you.

EXCHANGEITES HEAR COMEDIAN AND NOTED ACTOR

The generosity of the theatrical profession was demonstrated again at noon in the Egyptian Village when both Al Herman, noted black-face comedian, and Thomas E. Shea, well-known actor of the legitimate stage in the east, not only made a special trip to Glendale to offer entertainment but also made individual contributions to Glendale's Welfare Chest.

Glendale Exchangeites were hosts and campaign workers for the Welfare Chest were guests of the occasion. The total attendance was about 125.

A total of $5,394 toward the goal of $40,000 has been raised according to reports turned in by team captains.

An appeal for more workers and for more work was made by A. W. Tower of 214 East Park avenue, director of the campaign. W. E. Hewitt, of 219 East Randolph street, president of the Welfare Council, remarked: "This is a real serious matter; it is absolutely a community affair."

D. Ripley Jackson, president of the Exchange club, also endorsed the formation of a Welfare Chest.

"This is a worthy cause," he explained, "and should be supported by everybody."

Glowing tribute to California was paid by Mr. Shea. He remarked that he could see the rising sun from his house on Penobscott Bay, Maine, but that he might feel quite satisfied to see the setting sun from a California home.

Confidence that up-to-date luncheon clubs are checking any tendency towards lawlessness was expressed by Mr. Shea.

"I fee that club members like this," he remarked, "are really the minute men of present day American development."

An offer to assist in the active campaign was made by Mr. Herman who stated that he worked last year on Cincinnati's community chest drive and collected $4,756.

Entertainment by Mr. Herman, who has no difficulty in making an audience in large theaters turn loose the checks of merriment, consisted largely of jocularities. Accompanied by Miss Madelon Hardy, who also played "Love Tales," he sang two of his own popular compositions: "You Got to See Mama Every Night" and "No, No, Nora."

READING CIRCLE OBSERVES "OLD MEMBERS' DAY"

"Old Members' Day" was celebrated at the Mutual Benefit Reading circle on Wednesday and brought to the circle faces which have not been seen there recently and messages from absent friends of the organization. Chief of these was the greeting from Mrs. C. H. Toll, founder of the circle, who expressed her regret in not being able to be present.

The review of "Getting the Boy to Read" was given by Mrs. Florence Wintersgill and was followed by lively discussion.

Mrs. Danford, city librarian, spoke on children's reading and the importance of gaining a child's confidence and establishing a taste for reading at an early age.

The article written by Mrs. Toll and published in the October issue of "School Life," entitled "Methods of a Reading Circle Successfully Conducted," was read by Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman of the circle. "School Life" is published by the bureau of education in Washington.

Mrs. A. A. Barton, past chairman of the circle who was a special guest, spoke briefly on the steady growth of the circle and expressed her pleasure in attending this meeting.

Following the luncheon hour, members had opportunity to greet visitors and especially welcomed Mrs. Wheatman, a charter member who was responsible for choosing the name of the organization. Mrs. Henry read for a few minutes from the book, "Play and Education," by Lee, and there was general discussion of educational problems. The meeting closed with roll call answered by members with quotations.

Fisher, who will take for his subject "The Great White Lie." Mr. Fisher has been well and favorably known in northern California, having resided in San Francisco until recently. He has been prominent as a speaker at many gatherings. His experience extends to both sides of the Atlantic, and although he is a comparative young man, he has made a profound study of the labor movement. Therefore an address of more than ordinary significance may be expected.

The meeting will begin at 7:45 sharp with a musical program in which Leon Becker, precocious ten-year-old pianist, will exhibit his marvelous skill in interpreting the masters. No one should miss the musical prelude on this occasion. The Forum continues to attract large audience each Sunday night.

MRS. GEO. M'DILL TELLS IN RHYME OF DOLLAR MADE

All in Mournful Numbers, How She Filched as Husband Slumbers

The monthly meeting of the Pastor's Aid society was held Tuesday morning in the Glendale Presbyterian church. In the afternoon the Missionary society held its monthly meeting. In addition to the usual routine business this meeting was addressed by Miss Katherine McCune, a Presbyterian missionary from Korea.

Much interest was shown in the raising of money for the new church building fund. At a recent meeting a plan was adopted by which each woman was to earn a dollar and come to the November meeting and tell in rhyme how her dollar was earned. More than one hundred dollars was raised in this way. A number of the poems submitted were received most enthusiastically. The one prepared by Mrs. Geo. D. McDill of 1451 East Wilson avenue was of special interest and is herewith submitted:

At our last meeting we agreed
Upon a plan to meet our need,
Requiring each and every member
To EARN a dollar by November.

Bring the cash in at this time
Explaining how 'twas earned in rhyme.
Today I must make a report,
Though I can only say: "Im Short."

How can a housewife money earn
When her whole time, and her concern,
Is serving others day by day
In works of love, and not for pay?

She earns enough, all will allow,
But to collect, she knows not how.
Her service brings sincere affection,
More prized by her than cash collection.

If she were paid for all her labors,
By those at home, and by her neighbors,
Her pocketbook would burst its sides,
And she would "own the town" besides.

Think what she does, day after day,
Without a doubt of money pay!
She scrubs, she mends, she bakes, she sews,
She irons, and pays the bills she owes.

She sweeps and dust, just like the dickens,
She gathers eggs and feeds the chickens.
She bathes the dog and picks his fleas,
And mows the lawn and hives the bees.

She plans the menus as they need,
And serves the animals their feed,
The while she plans a social treat,
And entertains them as they eat.

When sick she nurses them to health
Without a tax upon their wealth.
In short, she does a lot of chores,
Both in the house and out of doors.

How can I earn, also collect,
A dollar bill, and not neglect
My household tasks? I racked my brain
Until it scarce could stand the strain.

At last I thought that I would try
To bake and sell a pumpkin pie.
This effort brought me fifteen cents
Which hardly paid for the contents.

"Earned, but no cash," I must relate;
I charge it to the married state.
Of all sad words, that I recall,
"I can't collect" are worst of all.

However, while my husband slept,
Into his dressing room I crept;
And while he snored and never heeded,
I took the eighty-five I needed.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS DANCE AND PLAY CARDS

Over sixty members and friends of the Glendale Community Players' club enjoyed a very interesting card and dancing party held Wednesday night at the club hall, 1428 South San Fernando road. Cards were played, with prizes awarded for high score, until 9:30. Dancing then provided entertainment until 11 o'clock. During the evening refreshments of coffee and cakes were served.

These gatherings of the Community Players' club are proving to be popular, not only among the young people, but among the older folks as well. Invitation cards may be secured from Mrs. L. Bradley, 131½ South Brand boulevard, or Mrs. Nanno Woods, 122 West Milford street.

Mrs. Eustace B. Moore will be hostess for the meeting of the club on Wednesday, December 5, and is arranging an interesting program. On that night there will also be a cup and saucer and spoon shower for the club.

Regular rehearsals for the minstrel show, to be given sometime in January, are held every Tuesday and Friday night at 7:30 o'clock. The cast is not quite complete and there is still an opportunity for those interested to join.

Preston and circle No. 3 served sandwiches and cookies at the box luncheon held at 12:30. This was followed by a short business meeting in charge of Mrs. J. A. Newton, president of the society. Truths in Epigram

An odd thought strikes me — we shall receive no letters in the grave. — Johnson.

It is one thing to indulge in playful rest, and another to be devoted to the pursuit of pleasure.—Ruskin.

The ornament of a house is the friends who frequent it.—Emerson.

THE FASHION IN GIRLS

According to a telegram from Paris the sturdy, masculine sort of girl has disappeared, and her place been taken by the soft, helpless, clinging type. It is said that men had become tired of the companionship of girls who often had stronger limbs and better muscular development than themselves. This is what "La Mode" says. Doubtless it expresses a wish rather than an accomplished fact. Evidently the maker of styles is getting ready to turn out a new style.

American girls never have ceased to be as clinging as desirable. They are not helpless, and they will decline to become helpless. Even when athletic, they are not masculine. If by devotion to outdoor sports a girl had acquired a physique superior to that of the prevalent male, instead of changing so as to correspond with him in inanity and weakness, she would hunt up an escort suited to her chosen way of life. The strong girl, capable of playing field games, of riding, rowing and swimming, far from changing to suit the whim of male weaklings, would drop such from her list.

There are many types of girls. No ukase from a fashion print can change them into a single pattern. There is the clinging variety of course, and always will be. The athletic girl may also belong to the clingers, but she must have something more virile than a tailor's dummy to which to cling. She is very justly proud of her muscular ability, her powers of endurance, and realizes that these do not divest her of any part of her charm in the esteem of those she deems worth charming.

FATHER AND SON WEEK

That relationship between father and son should be more than that of blood alone is too plainly evident to be discussed. Yet often there is a lack of intimacy and confidence. The affection that both feel, both are diffident in expressing. An invisible barrier rises between them. Each would be glad to overcome this, and each is fearful to undertake the essay. The precise point is illustrated by a current story that sets forth the yearning of a son to be the comrade of his father. To prevent his schoolmates from knowing how the father, traveling abroad, is neglecting him, he writes letters to himself, pretending that these are from the father. The letters are most affectionate. They portray a fine camaraderie, and are marked by expressions of endearment. The father visiting the school unexpectedly comes upon these letters, to him so amazing. The son enters meanwhile, and expects an outburst of wrath at the deception. Instead of this the father says, in effect, "How did you know it all? This is exactly the way I felt."

Coldness between father and son is likely to be because of suppressed emotions. It is artificial, and could the truth be revealed, would be dissipated on the instant. There could not well be a friendship more splendid than that of father and son. When a father forgets that he ever was a boy, the misunderstanding is started. When there is lack of frankness, of confidence on either side, the danger is at hand. As the process of drifting apart begins, it may widen until the two, who should have much in common, virtually become strangers.

This is Father and Son week. The minister introduces it by telling the young to honor their parents. Admirable counsel. But let parents honor the young, trust them, make friends of them; show belief in them, and be worthy of belief in return.

THE POWER TO SPEAK

Notwithstanding the fact that oratory generally is conceded to be waning, the power to address an audience agreeably and in a manner carrying conviction, is highly useful. There has been a tendency to neglect the cultivation of it. Professional orators, such as Bryan and the late Tom Fitch are wont to depend too much on the cadence of golden notes, nuances of tone, and beauty of phrase. This is a weakness of oratory, the speech often being regarded as ornamental. In the glittering setting of its sentences, the truth is lost, its glory dimmed by the effulgency of its gilded frame.

This week public speaking students of the Pasadena high school have been addressing the various lunch clubs of the city. The speeches were designed to emphasize the ideals which American Education week is striving to uphold. The idea is doubly good. In the first place the audiences receive information concerning topics which often have csant space in the mind of the busy business man. In the second place, of equal or greater importance, is the effect on the young orators. In the preparation of their several products, they had been obliged to familiarize themselves with the history and ethics of their country. Then by meeting and talking to mature listeners they gain confidence in their own capacities. They are being taught, and despite their youth, they are teachers.

The first requisite of the successful public speaker is to have a message to give. To convey this message concisely, in a way that reaches the mind, and impresses the memory, is the work of oratory. Artistry in the arrangement of an address, discretion in the selection of the words, should not be neglected. These qualities accentuate the force with which the truth strikes upon the understanding.

ANOTHER UNITED STATES

Maximilian Harden, whose German sympathies do not hinder his fairness at least in the present instance, makes a detailed analysis of the conditions of Europe. It is not necessary for the observer to take the viewpoint of Harden. All he has to do is to recognize the facts. In the article in question are weighed the various methods proposed for untangling the affairs of Europe. The conclusion is that none meets the emergency. Then Harden suggests as the only way out, the formation of the United States of Europe. He would have it correspond to the United States of America, with the now bellicose units of the other continent joined in a perfect understanding. The scheme may be ideal. Indeed, it is an ideal that for the present seems far from the possibility of attainment. If there be no other solution, the outlook remains as barren as ever of hope.

The United States was not founded by a collection of enemies, with different languages, different and conflicting ambitions, and having no common purpose. It was founded by a people bound closely by every circumstance. They had joined in a quest for freedom. The yoke that was sought to be cast off had rested equally upon all of them.

It is hard to imagine a United States of Europe embracing the French, Germans, English, Italians and Russians, with numerous smaller peoples. The only way to bring about such coalition would be the unanimuos resolve to end the tyranny of war. But could they trust each other? They first would have to forget the lies of centuries of diplomacy, the scars of countless battles, the clashing desire for power and for material wealth. Memory is charged with these things. Hatreds are keen still. Nations are scheming to overwhelm nations, and within some of them, factions are boring at the national foundation.

Far, far in the future must be the birth of the United States of Europe. Such a combination seems more likely to grow out of the ruins of governments of today, than to arise from adjustment of their quarrels.

A married man enjoys attending a wedding almost as much as he does a funeral.

SLANG

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Because slang pains the pursuits and because the pursuits pain me, I occasionally pepper them with a volley of jazz English just to see them squirm.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

In a more or less dull world one can often get a laugh out of the grotesque spectacle furnished by somebody having a hard fit about a trivial matter. In a casual perusal of an authenticated list of mortal sins I failed to find the use of slang; that is why I can use it without a subsequent desire to go forth and be shriven.

Apparently, however, the world is full of people who believe that the occasional use of unauthorized popular language stamps the offender with some kind of slang tainted features. Instance the comment of a woman who recently heard me make a few remarks at a club meeting.

"Why," gasped the critic, "she doesn't look or talk like a woman who would use all the slang she knows."

Just how one should look as a result of a wide acquaintance with "the grotesque use of legitimate speech" as the dictionary defines slang, I am unable to say. As the full definition covers several inches of white paper in moderately fine print it can not here be reproduced, but it might be helpful if the pursuits would read it. The naive part of the critics speech lies in the assumption that slang is hard to acquire, when as a matter of fact how anybody can live in the world without becoming familiar with it passes understanding. Every sect, profession, class and sport has its list of slang phrases. This being true it follows that people can only remain ignorant of slang by developing some kind of selective psychic deafness which will short circuit unauthorized phrases and so maintain one's vocabulary in a continuous state of prophylaxis and consequent limitation.

Let any parent who believes that slang is hard to acquire try to rear a youngster in ignorance of it. Not even a precocious pea green parrot can reach maturity without a fair vocabulary of slang —and profanity; that is, of course, unless secluded in the committee room of some orthodox church. Even then he would probably annex a few words that become profane when detached from their theological significance.

Fellow passengers on this ball of mud, the air is full of language just as it is full of germs. We are all exposed to everything and dodging is futile; and, when reduced to its lowest terms, what is selective psychic deafness save a form of dodging?

Slang is in our midst; it is up for inspection and selection, like the new rich. Some of it will get into society and ultimately become authorized, just as some of the new rich will get into the Blue Book and perhaps acquire crests.

We all shy at the new but progress is attained by accepting it. Latin and Greek, Maya and Sanscrit are free of slang because they are dead languages; but the American language is alive and vital. It has to grow and it grows by trial and failure. Don't be too certain that any current phrase will not appear in the next dictionary, and let me assure the timid that slang leaves no marks on the physiognomy. Bigotry does that.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Through the alley that runs behind the house a tough little boy appears now and then. He must be a tough little boy. He is usually dirty and his shoes are not always whole and he runs to rags. Also, he whistles very shrilly. We are on good terms, for sometimes I employ him to run errands, for which he gets dimes. The other day he appeared with a birdy of a black eye.

"Tommy Kelly givvut to me," he said.

Tommy Kelly is another tough little boy. The foregoing description applies equally to Tommy Kelly, except that Tommy is a bit taller and thicker than tough little boy Number One. They usually ramble together in amity, but from time to time rose leaves are crumpled beneath the silken coverlid of their youthful bed.

"This is the third time Tommy Kelly has licked you," I said severely.

"Yeh," said the tough little boy.

With the cause for their difference I had no particular concern. My tough little boy admitted with shame that he had been right well licked.

"But Tommy got his'n too," he said, hopefully. "I broke a tooth for him."

I moralized for his benefit. I pointed out that one does not rise in society when handicapped by a purple bloomer which abuts on the right cheek. Likewise I suggested that inasmuch as Tommy had previously licked him twice, it did not seem to be good sense to romp in a third time.

"But I didn't think he could lick me again," said my tough little boy. "And next time I betcha I lick him good."

My tough little boy's reward for running errands has been boosted to fifteen cents.

THE LISTENING POST

By JAMES W. FOLEY

I can if I will.
The will is after all the thing.
I can rise above misfortune.
I can overcome obstacle.
I can achieve righteous endeavor.
All things I can do if I will.

* * *

I can be bigger than trouble.
I can override difficulty.
I can leap barriers.
I can do all the things I should do if I will.

* * *

If envy harasses me I can put it away.
If greed tempts me I can set it behind me.
If temptation assails me I can overcome it.
If hatred threatens me I can cast it out.
Nothing possible to humanity but I can do if I will.

* * *

Will is the thing.
Resolution fortified with courage.
Fortitude.
Determination.
All things of the spirit that I have within me.
Waiting to be used.

* * *

If the day is overcast I can make it bright.
If the load if heavy I can lighten it.
If the trial is severe I can withstand it.
If the resolution of me is shaken I can strengthen it.
I merely need to reaffirm resolution.
Minute by minute and hour by hour and day by day.

* * *

When my legs are tired I can command the one step more.
And that one step will bring me to the place I mean to go.
Whey my will flags I can command it.
When I am confronted with discouragements I can drive them from me.

* * *

I can be what I choose.
Worker or shirker.
I may climb or I may give up.
I may win or I may lose.
I may be victor or vanquished.
I can be master of myself.
Or I can be slave of habit.

* * *

I have ideals.
And when they are in the balance I can defend them.
Or I can forsake and abandon them.
It all depends on me.
The defense of ideals may cost me temporary advantage.
But in the end it will win me everlasting victory.

* * *

So I may say:
"I will."
And rise to the task.
Or I may say:
"I will not."
And prove myself a coward.
But the choice is with me.

* * *

I may sail my ship.
Or I may scuttle it.
No other power shall say which it shall be.
I can do my task.
Or I can shirk it.
I can make myself.
Or I can mar.
Mine is the choice.
And your choice is with you.

THE TAX THAT DEFEATS ITSELF

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE Income Tax has been justly attacked upon the ground that its effect is to drive Capital out of Industry, as men with money are putting their capital more and more into non-taxable government securities and withholding it from industrial enterprises.

Everybody knows that the value of stocks has decreased by millions of dollars during the last year. That means that the public is holding off from putting its money into those industries that employ labor and make the country prosperous.

The Income Tax therefore is the enemy of labor, and the cause of depression and unemployment. Everybody does not know, however, that the Income Tax is a failure as a money raiser. For the calendar year of 1921, the amount of money collected by the treasury by income and profits taxes decreased approximately a billion and a quarter dollars from 1920. The number of persons and firms making returns decreased by about six hundred thousand.

In 1920 the records showed that thirty-three persons admitted having incomes in the class of one million dollars and over.

In 1921 there were only twenty-one such persons.

The net income upon which some six and a half million individuals paid taxes in 1921 was around nineteen and a half billion dollars while that net income for 1920 was nearly twenty-four billion dollars. Corporation incomes for the same period showed a decrease of around three million dollars. These and similar figures demonstrate the utter ineffectiveness and viciousness of the Income Tax. It appeals to the ignorant because on the surface it appears to tax the rich and let the poor go. As a matter of fact the rich side-step it and the effect is to drain the blood and cut the nerve of national prosperity.

The Sales Tax, if it were adopted, would not only be easily collected, but it would stimulate industry and would bring in far more dependable returns to the government.

Every effort in taxation to make the burden rest upon upon one class and exempt another is unjust. The underlying principle would be to have it rest upon the entire population, exacting from each one according to his ability. The basis of all just taxation is to make everybody pay to the government for the service which the government renders to them. That is fair and honest.

Unfortunately taxation in every country in the world is based upon the robber principle of penalizing success. And sooner or later every country finds out that to penalize success is to clog prosperity.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

WHY ENFORCEMENT LAGS

[Kansas City Star]

It is true that the enforcement of the prohibition law meets with extraordinary difficulties. One of these, not mentioned by Governor Pinchot, is the public attitude toward enforcement. A bootlegger cannot prosper without buyers. Every time a "good citizen" buys from a bootlegger that citizen condones and abets law violation. How many "good citizens" co-operate with the enforcement officers? How many report instances of bootlegging, illicit manufacture of "booze," of liquor-selling drug stores or soft drink places that come under their notice? Who is helping the government in its humiliating dilemma?

Effective enforcement of law is impossible without an aggressive public sentiment behind the enforcement effort.

TROUBLE WITH EUROPE

[Detroit Free Press]

As long as Europe keeps yelping about how it cannot get on its feet unless the United States does all the work, naturally it never will. A great part of the Old World's trouble is due to its pauperized state of mind.

SPEAKING TOO QUICKLY

[London Post]

"I is" began Bertram, but he was immediately stopped by his governess. "I am, please," she corrected. So Bertram made another start, and said, "I am the ninth letter in the alphabet."

Modern Version of New Testament

By EDGAR J. GOODSPEED

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW

"'The Lord has said to my lord, "Sit at my right hand,
Until I put your enemies under your feet" '?
So if David calls him lord, how can he be his son?"

And no one could make him any answer, and from that day on one ventured to ask him any more questions.

Then Jesus said to the crowds and to his disciples,

"The scribes and Pharisees have taken Moses' seat. So do everything they tell you and observe it all, but do not do as they do, for they talk and do not act. They tie up heavy loads and have them put on men's shoulders, but they will not lift a finger to move them. They do everything they do to have men see it. They wear wide Scripture texts as charms, and they wear large tassels, and they like the best places at dinners and the front seats in the synagogues, and to be saluted with respect in public places, and to have men call them 'Rabbi.' But you must not let people call you 'Rabbi,' for you have only one teacher, and you are all brothers. And you must not call anyone on earth your father, for you have only one father, your heavenly Father. And you must not let men call you master, for you have only one master, the Christ. But he who is greatest among you must be your servant. Whoever exalts himself will be humbled and whoever humbles himself will be exalted.

"But alas for you, you hypocritical scribes and Pharisees, for you lock the doors of the Kingdom of Heaven in men's faces, for you will neither go in yourselves nor let those enter who tre trying to do so. Alas for you, you hypocritical scribes and Pharisees, for you scour land and sea to make one convert, and when he is converted you make him twice as fit for the pit as you are. Alas for you, you blind guides, who say, 'If anyone swears by the sanctuary, it does not matter, but if anyone swears by the gold of the sanctuary, it is binding.' Blind fools! which is greater, the gold, or the sanctuary that makes the gold sacred? You say, 'If anyone swears by the alter, it does not matter, but if anyone swears by the offering that is on it, it is binding.' You blind men. Which is greater, the offering, or the altar that makes the offering sacred? Anyone who swears by the altar is swearing by it and by everything that is on it, and anyone who swears by the sanctuary is swearing by it and by him who dwells in it; and anyone who swears by heaven is swearing by the throne of God and by him who sits upon it.

"Alas for you, you hypocritical scribes of Pharisees, for you pay tithes on mint, dill, and cummin, and you have let the weightier matters of the Law go—justice, mercy, and integrity. But you should have observed these, without overlook the others. You blind guides! training out the gnat, and yet swallowing the camel! Alas for you, you hypocritical scribes and Pharisees, for you clean the outside of the cup and the dish, but inside they are full of greed and self-indulgence. You blind Pharisee! You must first clean the inside of the cup and the dish, so that the outside may be clean too. Alas for you, you hypocritical scribes and Pharisees, for you are like white-washed tombs! They look well on the outside, but inside they are full of the bones of the dead, and all that is unclean. So you outwardly appear to men to be upright, but within you are full of hypocrisy and wickedness.

"Alas for you, you hypocritical scribes of Pharisees, for you build tombs for the prophets, and decorate the monuments of the upright, and say, 'If we had been living in the times of our fathers, we would not have joined them in the murder of the prophets.' So you bear witness against yourselves that you are descended from the murderers of the prophets. Go on and fill up the measure of your forefathers' guilt! You serpents! You brood of snakes! How can you escape being sentenced to the pit? This is why I am going to send you prophets, wise men and scribes, some of whom you will kill and crucify, and some you will flog in your synagogues and hunt from one town to another; it is that on your heads may come all the righteous blood shed on the earth from the blood of Abel the upright to the blood of Zechariah, Barachiah's son, whom you murdered between the sanctuary and the altar! I tell you, all this will come upon this age!

"Oh Jerusalem, Jerusalem! murdering the prophets, and stoning those who are sent to her, how often I have longed to gather your children around me, as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, but you refused! Now I leave you to yourselves. For I tell you, you will never see me again until you say, 'Blessed be he who comes in the Lord's name!' "

And Jesus left the Temple and was going away, when his disciples came up to him to call his attention to the Temple buildings. But he answered,

"Do you see all this? I tell you, not one stone will be left here upon another but shall be torn down."

As he was sitting on the Mount of Olives, the disciples came up to him by themselves, and said to him,

"Tell us when this is to happen, and what will be the sign of your coming, and of the close of the age."

Jesus answered,

"Take care that no one misleads you about this. For many will come under my name, and say, 'I am the Christ,' and many will be misled by them. You will hear of wars and rumors of war; do not let yourselves be alarmed. They have to come, but that is not the end. For nation will rise in arms against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there will be famines and earthquakes here and there. All this is only the beginning of the sufferings. Then they will hand your over to persecution and they will put you to death, and you will be hated by all the heathen because you bear my name. Then many will fall away and betray one another and hate one another. Many false prophets will appear, and many will be misled by them, and because of the increase of wickedness, most men's love will grow cold. But he who holds out to the end will be saved. And this good news of the kingdom will ge preached all over the world, to testify to all the heathen, and then the end will come.

"So when you see the dreadful desecration, of which the prophet Daniel spoke, set up in the Holy Place"—the reader must take note of this—"then those who are in Judea must fly to the hills; a man on the roof of his house must not go down to get things out of it, and a man in the field must not turn back to get his coat. But alas for women who are with child at that time or who have babes! And pray that you may not have to fly in winter or on the Sabbath, for there will be greater misery then than there has ever been from the beginning of creation until now, or ever will be again. If those days had not been cut short, nobody would have escaped, but for the sake of God's people those days will be cut short.

"If anyone says to you at that time, 'Look! here is the Christ!' or 'There he is!' do not believe it, for false Christs and false prophets will appear, and they will show great signs and wonders to mislead God's chosen people if they can. Here I have told you beforehand. So if they say to you, 'There he is, in the desert! do not go out there; 'Here he is, in a room in here!' do not believe it. For just as the lightning starts in the east and flashes to the west, so the coming of the Son of Man will be. Wherever there is a dead body, the vultures will flock.

BOND DEPT. ADDED BY REAL ESTATE COMPANY

Lincoln, Meyer & Co., 205 Lawson building, having been engaged in the general real estate business for some time, have now added another department to their office and are handling a first class line of investment bonds, which may be bought by individuals in small amounts. They are operating under a broker's certificate.

Bonds may be safely bought and a maximum profit can be realized, the market now being in excellent shape for such investments by small buyers. Only high-grade bonds are carried, this firm being representatives for the National City company, the list of which fully meets the requirements of the present time. Calling attention to the fact that all large banks are heavy investors in stocks and bonds, the firm urges the individual to follow the footsteps of the big financial men and realize a handsome profit.

H. S. Lincoln is the builder and owner of the large apartment house at the corner of California and Kenwood street, having been buying and selling property since making Glendale his residence several years ago. He is a stronger booster, and does his bit towards the advancement of Glendale.

O. F. Meyer, the other partner, was a former garage owner and automobile dealer, handling the Oldsmobile line until two years ago, when he entered the real estate business.

Personal service in the bond and investment department is assured.

A characteristic glimpse of Winston Churchell as a very young man is revealed in Sir Henry Lucy's latest book, volume 3 of "The Diary of a Journalist." When Winston was at Sandhurst his mother, Lady Randolph Churchill, one day received a letter from her young son, a dutiful epistle, begging maternal permission to go out to Cuba and take part in the revolution. It concluded with a pious hope that his mother would offer no objections to a course so dear to his heart. Then came a postscript stating, "I start for Cuba on Saturday."

LEGION NEWS

There are left in this year only five meeting nights for Glendale American Legion post No. 127. They are to be real ones! One week from Friday, Nov. 23 the post will see Past Commander McBryde in action again. The next week will see Past Commander Kiefer in the chair and the next week Past Commander Nicoles. These past commander meetings will be three of the biggest meetings of the year. Honor these men who have served you by your presence, legionnaires. They are planning for your pleasure.

Next meeting, Friday, Nov. 23, will be a very important and unusual one. The question of installing a paid adjutant will be discussed and decided. To help in the decision there will be present the adjutants from Pasadena, Long Beach, Hollywood and Los Angeles posts, also 40 Hommes et 8 Cheveaux, all of whom receive monetary consideration for their work. It is the firm belief of the the Glendale commander and many members that this plan, if carried out, will result in untold benefits to the Glendale post, both in increased membership and more satisfactory representation of the post and the conduct of its official business; both items tending to swell the treasury. After all it's that old treasury that must be made to grow.

A nominating committee, elected last meeting, will start the post off right Dec. 7. Nominations are to continue each meeting, including Dec. 21, when officers will be elected.

On Wednesday evening, November 28, beginning at 8:30 o'clock, Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, will give a big Thanksgiving dance with many novel features of entertainment. Every admission ticket will give the holder an opportunity to secure a turkey. The turkey trot will be revised for the occasion. Undoubtedly "Turkey in the Straw," "Chicken Reel" and other musical numbers of that nature will be among the dance numbers to be given by the Barnyard Syncopaters. Durings the evening refreshments will be served. The dance will be at the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. Arrangements are in charge of Leroy Fortier, chairman of the Legion dance committee.

GLENDALE BOYS TO OPPOSE SPEAKERS

To Represent Different Universities In An Extempore Contest

The Glendale orators will oppose each other in the Intercollegiate extemporaneous speaking contest to be held tomorrow night in the Bovard Auditorium of the University of Southern California. Paul R. Hutchinson will represent the University of California Southern Branch, while Victor Colburn speaks for the University of Southern California. The general topic is the Agrarian situation in the United States. One hour before the contest definite topics will be assigned. Seven colleges and universities will be represented. They are the University of California Southern Branch, the University of Southern California, Occidental College, California Institute of Technology, Pomona College, Whittier College and Redlands University.

The two Glendale boys who will represent their Universities are both graduates of the Glendale High school in the class of 1922, where they were members of the debating teams and prominent in student body affairs. Hutchinson was winner of the annual Oratorial Contest in his senior year. Both are members of the Sophomore class at their respective Universities.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS BEING ELECTED

Directors to the number of six are now being elected by the membership of the Glendale chamber of commerce.

Ballots are being sent in by mail and deposited in a ballot box. They will be counted after the polls are closed next Tuesday night.

An earnest appeal was made by Secretary E. F. Sanders for all those eligible to vote to do so. He explained that successful candidates would be more efficient if they realized that they have the backing of the membership instead of the endorsement of but a few members who may have voted.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The Glendale-Montrose Railway announces they expect to have their cars in operation to Pennsylvania avenue by the later part of this week. The extension of the Glendale-Montrose line, has not only created a new business center but has been the direct cause of many people buying home sites in this district and many are being improved with homes. The through connection with the Los Angeles cars will be in effect about January first, with transfers to any part of the city. The reduced fares, the new cars, and the half hour service during the day and twenty minute service between 6:30 and 8:30 has been an important factor in the increased activities and development in the La Crescenta Valley. The Glendale-Montrose Railway as announced in the Press, have moved to their new home at 135 North Glendale Ave.

Next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock, at the school auditorium, will mark the organization and first services of the Saint Luke's of the Mountains Episcopal church. Rev. Robert Ranison will conduct the services and will be assisted by Bishop Stevens. The new Episcopal church will be erected on the corner of Michigan and Rosemont avenue, the building of which is one of the big improvements being planned for La Crescenta in the near future.

The drive the local students have been making, to raise funds for sweaters for the athletic teams is still on. Any one wishing to assist so worthy a cause can send donation to the principal, Mr. Albert Blanford.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Young of South Los Angeles avenue have their daughter Mrs. R. Bownin and daughter Veva May of Mojave as house guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ardagh Kundle and Misses Elizabeth and Anna Russell of Toronto, Canada are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brown of South Los Angeles, for luncheon today.

Mrs. Seymour Thomas of North Rosemond avenue is hostess at tea, this afternoon to the members of Saint Luke's of the Mountains Guild and a group of friends.

MONTROSE NOTES

The Montrose-La Crescenta Methodist community church has purchased a large lot on the southwest corner of Montrose and Mira Vista avenues and plan to erect a tabernacle. Work will probably begin on the building by the first of the week. A meeting was held last evening of those interested in the church, and trustees were elected. James L. Brown, J. J. Keller and H. E. Carter were named to take over the trusteeship. Nearly one hundred members were present at the meeting which was held at Mr. Brown's home.

If you would have your mail reach you from outside points better, hurry and leave the correct mailing address with those in authority. The Glendale postoffice has announced that after the first of the month all mail which does not have the correct box number of the addressee will be returned to the sender. Glendale postoffice is headquarters for this district, and the postal authorities have found this new ruling necessary because of the reorganization of the routes and new box numbers and new men on the routes.

The seventh and eighth graders of the local school will Friday afternoon meet the Glendale avenue juniors in an interesting game of touchball to be played in Glendale. This is a return game, the juniors having been defeated here some days ago when the local youngsters took the score of 6 to 3.

Mrs. G. D. Kennedy is quite ill with penumonia. Friends are hoping that she will soon recover.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 175 K Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Advt.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenrhu, the sure conquerer of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous, and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenrhu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. FRANCIS W. READ

Collegiate football is rapidly drawing to a close for 1923. Saturdays' games will be the last for many institutions and will mark the closing of most of the conferences and associations. Only the post-season and intersectional games will remain to be played after the Thanksgiving contests are out of the way. Some of the eastern colleges have games for turkey day, and a few afterward, although no Thanksgiving games are scheduled for the west.

Saturday's games in the west will bring together the University of California and Stanford University at Berkeley, when the California memorial stadium. California should win this tilt, but the Cards have been playing a great brand of football lately, and are liable to give the Bears a hard jolt. If California can win it will conclude the fourth consecutive season without a defeat for the Blue and Gold under Coach Andy Smith.

Elmer Henderson's University of Southern California gridders will take on the Idaho Vandals out at the Los Angeles Coliseum. At the first of the season the Vandals were picked as a great team, and so they looked until Stanford took them down the line last Saturday. The Trojans still look good, despite their losses to California and Washington. Their win over Arizona Saturday by a 69 to 6 score raised their stock considerably. The Cardinal and Gold shbuld cop from Idaho.

Washington State and the University of Washington meet in a sectional battle at Seattle. The Huskies should win but suffered a slump when they were defeated by the Bears last Saturday, while the Cougars have staged a great comeback lately.

Final games in the Southern California conference will be staged Saturday. Oxy and Pomona meet at Claremont. The winner will tie for the championship with Caltech provided the Engineers beat the Cubs in their game at the Pasadena Rose Bowl. Redlands and Whittier meet in a game that has no bearing on the title.

In the east the famous Harvard-Yale battle will be staged with Old Eli the 2 to 1 favorite. The army and navy will meet in their annual game. The Soldiers are given 6 to 5 odds to defeat the Sailors. If they are able to down the Navy it will mean that the Annapolis eleven's stock will be materially reduced for the Tournament of Roses game on New Year's day.

Before placing a sponge cake in the oven to bake try sprinkling a fine white sugar over the top. This forms the rich, brown-looking crust that makes bought sponge cakes look so tempting.

STORY OF ORIGIN OF FOOTBALL

(This is the third and last of a series of articles on the origin of football.)

The game continued to grow more and more rough. Less regard for a person's well being was paid and the ball was driven through the opponent's goal by fair means or foul. On account of its brutality the upper classes refused to take part in the scrimmages and for years football remained the sport of the masses. When the heir apparent during the reign of James I took a liking for the game, the King ordered him to desist. For once the royal order with regard to fooball was obeyed—by one who could do nothing else but obey.

It was in 1609 that the game began to be played in America. Henry Spellman in his "Relation of Virginia," wrote: "The use beside the football game which women and young men much doe play at. They make their gooles like ours, only they never fighte or pull another doone. The men play with a little ball lettinge it fall out of their hands and striketh with the top of their foote. He that can strike the ball fathest winnes that which they play for." Football remained in a semi-lethargic state, making little impression upon the curricula of the schools and colleges—an interesting fact now when so many students attend the institution that has the winning team. It was a long period from the time that football was introduced into the colleges to the first intercollegiate game which was played in 1869.

College life in America took up the game to a certain degree. Yale and Harvard made it the basis of their annual freshman-sophomore rush, but the faculties of the two schools soon prohibited it on account of the tendency toward brutishness. On the other hand Princeton and Rutgers developed the game as one worthy of a place in the college sphere and the first intercollegiate game in the world was played between these two schools in November, 1869, antedating that in England between Cambridge and Oxford in February, 1872, by three years. In 1876 Columbia, Harvard, Princeton and Yale, realizing if the game was to continue, that it should have a standard code, met together and the American Intercollegiate Football association was formed. The Rugby rules with minor changes were adopted. The association disintegrated in 1894; Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton and Yale formed a rules committee to preserve the game; and Cornell, Chicago and the Naval Academy were later admitted. In 1905 an independent association appeared and in order to stimulate a greater interest in the game, the two coalesced.

Football is a superior game today than it was in the time of the Romans. Greater skill is required and maneuvers count more than weight. Team work is developed to a high degree; clean playing, and a "sport for sport's sake attitude creates a team that is hard to beat. Unfortunately there are teams that regard winning whether by fair means or foul as the ultimate goal. Dirty football exists today and at times crops out in awkward places. A bad name results which requises years to be wiped out. Dirty teams must be eliminated and the matter rests with the players and the coaches. It is for them to teach and to learn self control. A strong man is required to keep his temper when deliberately fouled and no game requires this control of self more than does football.

(The End)

NIXON WORRIES OVER SAGEHENS

CLAREMONT, Nov. 22.—Coach Eugene Nixon has been doing what nearly every wide-awake mentor does before a big football game—lying awake nights trying to figure out some method of instilling dynamite into his Pomona College gridiron aggregation so that they will play as they should during the first half of Saturday's battle with the Tigers from Occidental College. The game, which is carded for 2:30 o'clock, is the last conference clash of the season for both teams, and upon the result depends the winning or losing of first honors.

It is a well-known fact that the Sagehens have been an in-and-out football team during the past season. In their conference games they have shown a strange inclination to spend most of the first half watching their opponents score touchdowns. This was a pleasant way to spend the time—from the other team's point of view.

DE MOLAY TEAM DEFEATS LEGION

Glendale De Molays scored a 25 to 22 victory over the local American Legion basketball team in a fast game last night in the high school gymnasium. This was a regular city league game. The two teams battled desperately the full game, fighting hard and playing well on both offense and defense. When time was called the score stood 20 to 20. It was agreed to play off the tie and give the game to the team that was ahead after five additional minutes of play. During this five minutes the De Molays were able to make five points as against two for the Legion. The De Molays have no more games scheduled until December 5, when they meet the high school alumni.

LIGHTWEIGHTS PLAY FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Meet Covina Gridders on Monrovia Field Tomorrow

Coach Paul Butterfield's Glendale high school lightweight eleven will journey to Monrovia tomorrow afternoon to meet the Covina midgets in a playoff for the championship of the 130-pound division of the Central league. Last Thursday the locals won in a game on the Covina gridiron, making the two schools tied for first honors. This time the game will be played at Monrovia, a neutral field situated midway between Glendale and Covina.

All advantages seem to be in the favor of the Dynamiters, who downed the Covina gang last week 13 to 6. Each team has lost but one game during the season. The Glendale eleven appears to be a stronger team than does the Covina bunch, and should win in the ordinary course of events. The locals are fast and going good in all departments of the game. McAllister, Muff, La Franchi and Lovell have been playing great football and should give Covina a jar.

The sensational work of the lightweights this year has been the surprise of the season. When practice started it was rumored that the lightweight squad was due for a dismal failure, as but four of the veterans who won the 1922 championship were back in uniform. Later in the season, however, a few more vets began to show up and the new material that had turned out showed signs of developing into a real football team. When the Central league season opened the lightweight Dynamiters started out to win and copped every game except the Monrovia contest. Now they are tied for the championship and ready to play off the tie. In case of a victory they will enter the playoffs for the Southern California championship, as the local heavyweights will do when they meet the San Bernardino eleven at Ontario Saturday.

Tomorrow's game will start at 3:00, and a large crowd of Glendale student and rooters is expected to attend. The lineups:

GLENDALE		COVINA

OPEN BURBANK BOXING TONIGHT AT THE ARMORY

Inaugurating the boxing game in Burbank, the Burbank Athletic club tonight stages its first show in the Armory of that city. A. Barton, matchmaker, has lined up a good card with some bouts that promise to be the real thing. Ray Johnson of Twin Cities and Arizona Wildcat of Burbank, 145 pounders, will meet in the main event. Gilbert Gallant of Boston takes on Battling Ward of Lankershim in the semi-windup affair. Although this is scheduled as a preliminary it promises to be about the best bout on the card. Ward has put up some mighty strong fights in the Glendale arena, and can always be counted on to show some real stuff. Three other preliminaries are scheduled. Pete Wagner will meet Fighter Lamer, 105 pounds. Batt Bozo takes on Dick McCarren at 130 pounds. As a curtain raiser two 110-pound boys will scrap, Young Siki and Danny Suppy.

Mr. Rooney of Burbank will referee. The Burbank Athletic club plans to stage a regular series of bouts along the line of the shows staged so successfully for the past two months by the Glendale Athletic club. The Burbank Armory will be the scene of the scraps.

REDLANDS ELEVEN READY FOR POETS

REDLANDS, Nov. 21.—University of Redlands football men returned yesterday from Fresno, where they met the State College team last Saturday. The Bulldogs have one more game, that with Whittier here Saturday, the last of the conference tilts for the Baptists.

VANDALS WILL BE NO CINCH FOR TROJANS

Idaho Eleven Looks Good in Spite of Recent Defeat

Idaho will not be such a cinch for Gloomy Gus Henderson's U. S. C. Trojans as some of the local dopesters seem to think. The Vandals are going great in spite of their loss to Stanford last week, and when the two teams meet in the Coliseum Saturday there will be a real battle.

Here's the record the Vandals have made this year and you all will agree that it doesn't leave any room for sniffing:

Idaho, 83; Idaho College, 0.
Idaho, 40; Montana, 0.
Idaho, 14; Washington State, 0.
Idaho, 0; Oregon, 0.
Idaho, 13; Gonzaga, 0.
Idaho, 7; Oregon Aggies, 0.
Idaho, 7; Stanford, 17.

Total points scored, 164; total points scored against, 17.

When one recalls that Washington State decisively trimmed by Idaho, turned around and thrashed Oregon later, one gets a pretty good idea of the power that is back of Matthews' drive.

The Vandals' coach is not a braggart. He has confidence and faith in his men and in himself. He oozes confidence and notwithstanding the fact that he got a few bad breaks at Stanford—both in the game and in its officiating—neither he nor his men moans over their defeat. Matthews says he should have beaten Stanford and would have but for the two hurdles heretofore mentioned.

The Trojans have shown no great adaptability in breaking up aerial offensives to date save in the Stanford game. Idaho's passing game is rated far superior to Stanford's. In their game last Saturday against the Cardinals the Vandals completed sixteen out of twenty-one passes. That's quite a few and is giving Henderson no end of concern.

The Trojan Varsity is preparing to meet an opponent it fears as much as it did California. One thing in their favor rests in the fact that Henderson is NOT going to wait for breaks Saturday. He is going to let fly with everything in his trick bag.

HAYHURST GETS READY TO MEET SAN BERNARDINO

Dynamiter Coach Puts the Team Through Stiff Workouts

Normal Hayhurst, coach of the Glendale High school football team, is busy getting his squad in shape for the first game of the Southern California championship play-off to be staged Saturday afternoon when the Glendale eleven meets San Bernardino on the Chaffey field at Ontario. The few rough spots that exist in the Dynamiters' game are being polished off in order that the team that goes on the field Saturday will be in perfect condition.

Special emphasis is being placed on the offensive game. The Black and Red boys play airtight football on the defensive, but are not always able to get their offense under way early enough in the game. This was shown in the Covina game last Friday when they were not able to get over a touchdown until the middle of the third quarter.

There will be no injuries on the Glendale team Saturday. Ronald West, captain and halfback, who was forced to remain on the bech last Friday on account of his hip will be back in the game and getting strong. Both Elliot brothers are in the pink of condition, as are Walton, Ryan, Horri, Lavelle, and the rest of the team.

It is expected that Hayhurst will play the same type of game against the Gate City boys that he has in the Central League games, kicking continually and making the breaks, and using his aerial attack as much as possible. It is also probable that he will use Howard Elliot, husky fullback to the limit, for Elliot has been responsible for a great many of the victories of the past. He can kick, pass, run back punts and charge through the line.

Just what kind of a game San Bernardino will play is impossible to predict. The Saints have won all of their games, but seem to have varied their style of game throughout the season. It is known, however, that Ray Duke, diminuitive Gate City half, has caused considerable trouble to the opposing elevens and the Dynamiters will be on the watch for him.

Ontario, the scene of the game, is located on the Foothill boulevard midway between Glendale and San Bernardino, and is reached by Colorado and Foothill boulevard. The game will be called at 2:45 p. m.

AUTO REPAIRING
"SO EASY"
Clutch Attachment for Chevrolet Cars
There is nothing so annoying or injurious as the constant grabbing of a clutch which has a tendency to loosen the mechanical parts from the radiator to the rear end and is extremely unpleasant to the ones riding in the car. After this grabbing has taken place for a short time there is a likelihood of its tearing the whole rear end out, which is an unnecessary expense if you will only realize the clutch of any car needs occasional attention. You will have a smooth, easy but positive action thereby saving yourself expensive repair bills and make riding a pleasure as the SO EASY makes a good clutch better.

AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL WEEK

'HI' SCHOOL P.-T. A. IN MONTHLY MEETING

Hears Illuminating Talks From Heads of Departments

A program which was highly illuminating to members of the High school P.-T. A. was enjoyed Wednesday afternoon when the heads of the departments of the school and was a symposium of convincing arguments on the value of those departments. Mrs. C. H. Whitney, president of the association, presided, and Mrs. George U. Moyse introduced the speakers.

First to be heard were the representatives of physicial education, Coach Normal Hayhurst and Miss Lilian Shattuck. Both showed that apart from physical development and health, it had cultural value in its team work, in the sacrifice of personal interest to the interest of the group, in the mental stimulus of quick decisions and rapid calculations.

Miss Ellen Hanson had no difficulty in persuading her audience to a favorable consideration of domestic science as a preparation for service to home and community, and had the last word and an unanswerable argument at the close of the session, when she and associates on her committee served delicious sandwiches, cake, cookies and tea prepared by the girls of her department.

Miss Jeannette Abel, head of the art department, said she hoped the time would come when it would be made one of the majors in the high school. "Every boy and girl," she declared, "should be given opportunity to make his and her life rich and beautiful aesthetically as well as materially . If this were the case we would not have the tragedy of the American business man who has a lot of money to spend and no taste to guide him in his investments. I would make a special plea for the boys. Only a few have the courage to stay in our classes, perhaps because they fear to be called effeminate, but facts show our greatest artists are men.

Mr. O. E. MacDowell, head of the mathematics department, made the really basic talk of the afternoon on the theme "majors." He explained that a major is three years of work in one subject and that the school requirements call for two majors and one and a half years in civics and history. Sixteen units make up the course and of these eight must be on academic subjects. The five academic subjects are English, mathematics, foreign languages, history, and science.

Mr. Morgan N. Smith presented the work of the manual arts department, auto shop, forge, wood working, machine shop and mechanical drawing in a brief talk which ended with an invitation to every person present to visit the sections enumerated, either day or evening classes, and especially to inspect the wooden toys that are being made as part of the Christmas stores to be dispensed by the Boys' League and Girls' League at the holidays.

Principal Moyse made a plea for the Community Welfare chest drive, and following adjustment there were social greetings around the tea table over which Miss Hanson and assisting hostesses presided.

I can assure you I lost no time changing my seat.

However, I soon fell to studying the pictures again. There was one picture advertising toothpaste. I just glanced at it and began to inspect the next one.

This one took my fancy. It was a picture of a large mountain resort with a man mounted on a horse in the foreground. I used my imagination and had a most delightful time in the mountains at this resort. The car had stopped but I did not notice it. I was just going for a walk along a woodland path when the conductor shouted.

It startled me and I looked up only to see the children standing in the road and looking at me with surprise written in every line of their faces. I jumped up and ran to the platform. The conductor waited until I got off but he looked as if he had to struggle to keep from losing his temper. I was so out of patience with myself that when the girls asked me what was the matter. I said, "Day Dreaming."

BETTY AND JANE
Madeline Scheid
Colorado Street School, A-6

Betty and Jane were twins. Although they looked very much alike they were far from twins in their ways.

When they were children Betty would always save her money, while Jane would spend hers, and would beg her sister to do the same. They were very devoted to each other.

When Jane was twenty years of age she married a very rich and extravagant man. A year later Betty married a poor but thrifty man. She and her husband seemed very happy and by both of them working together they soon had enough money to buy a nice home and a modest car.

Jane and her husband bought a beautiful home and a Pierce Arrow car.

Jane had gotten into society and was soon very popular.

Betty suggested to her husband, one evening, that they buy some chickens and have a garden in their back yard. They could make some money that way.

He quickly agreed, and so every morning Betty went out to feed the chickens, and in the evening they both gathered the eggs.

One day her husband came home from town saying that he had gotten a raise in salary and now they would be able to have a long dreamed of piano.

Three years later Jane's husband was unsuccessful in business and lost their home and everything. While Betty and her husband, by being thrifty, still had their home and car and were very happy.

A DAY IN DANGER LAND
Ramona Full
Colorado Street School, B-6

"We'll need our travelling coats today," said Watchfulness. He opened a door, took out three small gray cloaks and handed one to each child. Suddenly Betty looked around the room but could see no one, but after putting on her cloak she could see her friends smiling at her.

"Whoever wears one of these cloaks becomes invisible," said said Watchfulness.

First they boarded a crowded car unseen by human eye.

"Wait till the car stops!" shouted the conductor to a woman who was just about to step off the moving car. "Good advice," said Watchfulness," it takes time to teach Safety thinking to people who have always had the danger habit."

Then they saw a little girl leaning out of a window, a load of lumber was coming and just before it struck her Watchfulness pulled her in. There was a startled cry from the child and a "Hush! Hush!" from her mother, who never lifted her eyes from the book she was reading.

They got off the car and entered a large apartment house. Watchfulness sniffed, then darted into a kitchen where a woman was pressing. On the ironing board, close by a fire, stood a bottle of Naptha. Watchfulness pulled a newspaper from his pocket and laid it on the table. The womans eyes caught this article. "A beautiful girl was burned to death by leaving Naptha beside a fire. Here is a warning, keep Naptha, gasoline and benzine away from flames. "Well, I never knew Naptha was so dangerous," she said, and threw it out to get something less explosive.

"Betty declares unto this day.
She really, truly went away,
And spent a Day in Danger Land
Saw crippled folks on every hand."

SAFETY FIRST FOR TOMMY
Rorrie Mae Gladdis
Wilson Ave. School, B-8

Tommy gets up bright and early every morning. The room is a wee bit chilly for mother, so Tommy lights the gas heater very carefully. First he strikes the match, then he turns up the gas just high enough to catch, next he stands at arms length while touching the match because many little children have been badly burned that way and Tommy believes in "Safety First."

Next Tommy brushes his teeth very careful for old man germ is on the lookout for children who are not careful with their teeth, and then he washes his hands and face for Tommy believes in "Safety First."

Tommy next goes out in the garden and sprinkles the flowers his mother has so neatly planted and while he was watering he found an old piece of rusty knife blade which he picks up and puts in the trash barrel for Tommy has a small sister who might pick it up and probably cut herself badly enough to start blood poison. Afterwards Tommy washed his hands again for he believes in "Safety First."

When Tommy is on his way to school he looks carefully both ways in crossing tracks or streets for Tommy believes in "Safety First."

Tommy is also careful not to put his pencils in his mouth for probably he has loaned it to someone who has had it in his mouth and had a cold or some disease, for Tommy believes in "Safety First."

When, on his way home from school he sees a banana peel on the street and kicks it into the gutter for some other person might come along, and not seeing it might slip on it hurting themselves badly, for Tommy believes in "Safety First" not only for himself but others as well.

What a lot of hardships and sorrow could be avoided if we were all as strong as Tommy for "Safety First."

SAFETY FIRST

Doran St. School, A-5

One might suppose we children had very little to do with the safety of our nation, but we are the coming generation, and in our time shall uphold better and safer highways.

In a game each person has a part to play. Let us think of making our nation safe, as a game in which each has his place to fill and his bit to do. As in a game there are certain rules to follow.

1. Always observe traffic before crossing the street.
2. When walking on a road always keep to the right so you can see any moving vehicle that might be coming.
3. Learn automobile signals in order to know what the driver intends to do.
4. When alighting from a street car stand until sure of a safe way to the curb.
5. When riding a bicycle keep close to the curb and give correct signals when starting to turn.

Now come the things we must not do, rules just as important if we are to play safe:

1. Don't hurry! Most accidents are caused by the desire to save a few seconds.
2. Never play in the street nor dash before moving vehicles!
3. Never jay-walk!
4. Never steal rides!
5. Never stand in the street!
6. Never skate across the street. Always take off your skates.

A child's part to play safe is to keep from being tagged by an automobile. Many automobile accidents occur in which the driver is blameless and a large number of children are injured.

If we will follow these rules other children witching us will do so, too.

Thus we shall spread our safety interest and information.

SAFETY FIRST
Barbara Wirth
Pacific Ave. School, B-5

"Safety First" should be everybody's motto.

We should look both ways before crossing a street. We should be very careful about lighting stoves, and we must never play with matches.

Small children should not be allowed to cross busy streets. Schools should not be built on busy streets because the smaller children are apt to get run over in crossing. Boy scouts have helped greatly in the protection of small children.

Almost every day we see in the papers that someone was run over and killed, or burned to death or drove off a mountain grade.

Some men are foolish enough to boast that they can go as fast as possible and drive alright. They usually get killed in the attempt.

We should always see that our cars are in good shape before starting on a trip, and always drive as carefully as possible.

We should also be careful of forest fires for they are one of the most dangerous kinds of fires. When we go camping we should not drop matches or cigar or cigarette stubs in the grass or underbrush for such carelessness often causes great damage to life and property.

GLENDALE WELFARE CHEST
Celia Blatt
Broadway School, A-6

Monday we had a phone call. The call was about a family living in the poorest part of Glendale. The Glendale Welfare Chest heard about this. They sent a lady and man to see whether this was true or not. When they got there they went into the shabby house. The father was very ill. The mother and four children hadn't had a thing to eat all day long.

When the family saw the man and lady they begged for food. The man went for a doctor and the lady for food. When the doctor came in the house he said Mr. Brown must get a new room where the sunshine and good air could come in. Mrs. Brown fainted for happiness that her dear family would be together again. The Glendale Chest collected up five hundred dollars. Mr. Brown was an Elk. The Elks took good care of the family until Mr. Brown was able to work again. When Mr. Brown was able to work again he paid back the Glendale Welfare Chest.

ple and American atmosphere. She also said "although many of the foreigners coming here have not had the advantages of education, they want their children to have it. This is shown by the fact that the least percentage of illiterates is found among the American born children of foreign parents."

Miss Ida Myers gave a short talk regarding some of the recent immigration laws and other legislation, including the case in which the supreme court of the United States recently upheld the California alien land law. The remainder of the talks of the afternoon were on prominent men, who despite many hardships, and the fact that they were foreign born, grasped the opportuities of the American schools, etc., and made a great success. Mrs. Smith gave a short paper on "Charles Steinmetz," electrical engineer and inventor who recently passed away. Mrs. V. Rapp read an article on "David Sarnoff," who was born in Southern Russia in 1891, came to this country at the age of nine and by perseverance worked his way and is today vice-president and general manager of the Radio Corporation of America. A short informal discussion followed.

At the close of the afternoon a social half-hour was enjoyed, during which tea and wafers were served. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth, Mrs. T. G. McDougall, Mrs. H. S. Garlinghouse and Miss Mary Dalrymple. The topic for the meeting of the literature section on December 5 will be "Women," including talks on "Women of Fifty Years Ago" and 'Women of Today," as well as music and other numbers.

ADVERTISEMENTS
Mildred La Bau
Wilson Ave. School, A-8

The other day as I was going home on the street car, I chanced to glance up at the advertisements. There were so many colors in them that they reminded me of a huge rainbow.

There were advertisements of different brands of canned goods. There were others advertising all styles of clothes. Some advertised medicines while others were pictures of mountain resorts.

One of the pictures was advertising tobacco. It had an outline of a man with a large pipe in his mouth. To me it seemed very ugly. It suddenly penetrated my mind that there was an unpleasant odor in my nostrils. I glanced up and discovered a man directly in front of me smoking like a steam engine.

SAFETY FIRST
Billy Aldrich
Doran St. School, 6-A

Boys and girls of the Glendale schools should be very much interested in our motto, "Safety First," especially boys and girls of the fifth and sixth grades because they are an example for younger boys and girls. We all expect to have automobiles in the future, and many of us have bicycles now. If we are careful with our bicycles now we surely will be careful with our automobiles when we get them.

We all may have a happier Thanksgiving by observing these rules. We do not wish to have any sad accidents happen to our families before Thanksgiving, so we may be thankful that nothing has happened to any of them.

Things boys and girls may do to help prevent accidents.

1. Stop, Look and Listen before crossing streets.
2. Do not hook a ride when on a bicycle.
3. Do not ride on a running board of an automobile.
4. Do not take chances.
5. Be careful at railroad crossings.
6. Play in Safety Zones.

SAFETY FIRST
Kenrick Ellis
Acacia Ave. School, 5

The purpose of this paper is to make people realize how awful accidents are.

A great many accidents happen at home. Falls are caused by small toys or marbles left on the floor. Leaning out of windows and playing on new houses are dangerous.

Another way of meeting with accidents in the home is burns. Never play with matches or leave wash tubs and buckets full of hot water on the floor. Christmas tree candles and fourth of July fireworks often cause fire.

Playing with knives and broken glass should not occur. Any one can easily be cut too playing with tin cans.

Nineteen persons are being injured every second and nine killed every hour by street accidents. We should always take off our roller skates when crossing the street. Begging rides is risky and we ought never to play in the street or jay-walk.

Another place where we have many accidents is on the playground. Throwing rocks is the worst thing we can do. I once knew a boy who was throwing rocks for fun and he hit a little girl and hurt her badly. Pushing heads at the drinking fountain is very bad. Boys and girls who run with sharp sticks in their hands ought to be punished. Running hard around corners of the building or in a room sometimes cause serious accidents. I once knew a boy who was running in a room and hurt himself by bumping into a table. He never forgot it.

I hope you all see how awful accidents can be, and I hope you will obey the safety rule and not cross the street without looking both ways. Have "Always Be Careful" your motto.

SAFETY FIRST
Lillian Benson
Grand View School, A-5

One day as I was going down the street, I saw a boy on a pair of roller skates. He was skating along slowly until he reached the corner. Here he stopped short and bent over. I watched to see what he was doing or was going to do. He was unfastening the straps that held the skate to the foot. At last he stamped his feet and off dropped the skates.

I wondered what he would do next and so continued to watch. This boy picked up his skates and walked across the street. When he reached the other side he stopped and fastened them on again, then skated slowly on down the street. Here was a boy who was practicing "Safety First." Safety in crossing the street and safety in going slow so as not to bump anyone on the sidewalk. I followed to see if he would do the same thing at the next corner. Sure enough! When he reached the next corner he bent over, took off his skates and walked to the other side. Now if every boy and girl would practice the safety first lessons we are taught there would be fewer accidents and less suffering.

NEW NORTHEAST REALTY BOARD

in all business transactions, saving any future complications. Multiple listing is really a service rather than a system. The Southwest realty board publishes its own monthly magazine which is filled with realty news of authentic value. It partciularly discourages listing property at too high valuation and encourages the highest integrity in all dealings between owner and broker.

Attorney Leland Davis read the by laws under consideration for the Northeast realty board, which were highly commended by Mr. Brent of the Los Angeles realty board, specifically mentioning the arbitration and relief causes therein.

S. D. Koch of the Greater Santa Monica club opened his address in a most enthusiastic and earnest manner and from the jump had his audience with him to the last man. It is no wonder that Santa Monica has taken the jump accredited to it. If it has many members with the spirit of community welfare and prospective viewpoints of Mr. Koch, that district will become a watchword for Southern California. The history of its two years' campaign and the manner of conducting it was vitally interesting and educative. It was one of the pleasures of the evening to listen to Mr. Koch and his description of the workings of the publicity end of the club which opened the eyes of the gathering. This club started two years ago with 225 persons present at a dinner. The membership and money has grown beyond any expectation. More power to it.

Chairman Baird presented O. A. Vickrey, vice-president of the Los Angeles realty board, who warmly congratulated the Northeast realty zoard upon its organization and spoke briefly but most intensely upon business honestly and integrity of the realtors of the state. It is Mr. Vickrey's desire and hope to see real estate a profession rather than a business, and with its members standing for strict honesty and strict business methods of transacting realty deals between broker, owner and purchaser. With 35 years' experience in and around Southern California, Mr. Vickrey was in a position to relate many facts which were most appreciatively received. A caution was earnestly given to subdividers in boosting prices and making fictitious values. A plea for sane investments and conservative values was the keynote of Mr. Vickrey's discourse.

Mr. Brent, also of the Los Angeles realty board, added his strong commendation for the principles of fair dealing and hopes that at some time a plan for some protection to the business may be found in an examination of applicants for membership to the profession. The forming of boards by communities to cooperate and protect their interests appeals to Mr. Brent as the only way to make a success in this line of business.

Mr. Anderson, chief deputy real estate commissioner, although the last speaker on a long program, certainly warmed the hearts of the audience by his genial and delightful manner. The relating of various experiences of his official duties were most interesting and although he offered to stop talking as it was late, the audience refused to let him go, thereby getting some very valuable information upon real estate laws, as well as some additional stories.

PROUD NEW YORK SAYS CALIFORNIA SHALL NOT PASS

Pierson W. Banning, state president for California Sons of the Revolution, has sent the Daily Press a communication to give forth to its readers as follows:

"New York has just informed California that the Sons of the Revolution have admitted so far this year 184 members and have 39 applications pending.

"The California society, Sons of the Revolution, has admitted so far this year 177 new members and has 21 pending applications.

"New York further says that California has for the last time held the leadership of the country in new membership growth, that it is going to show what New York is capable of doing when it gets going. It compliments California for the fine showing it has made during the past five years by leading every society in the country, but says, 'California shall not pass.'

"The California society, Sons of the Revolution, accepts this challenge. New York has been notified. California will 'go over the top' again this year. It must. It has never failed.

"On the list of those who have been invited to membership in the California society there are a large number who have informed us they are securing data for their membership papers. If these and others who can qualify will do so immediately, New York won't have a ghost of a show this year. Keep California in the lead!

"Every eligible person in California who can meet our rigid qualifications for membership should act immediately.

"This society assists in the completion of records without cost to those who will join immediately when their papers have passed our requirements for membership.

"Help California win again. It can and will, with your help.

THE DAY'S WORK

A clean mind and a warm heart
And a will to understand;
A job to do and an early start
And a willing and busy hand;
A clear eye and a ready smile,
And a word that's good and true,
And off right now, not after while,
To the work there is to do.

A frank yes or a firm no,
With meaning behind the word;
A spirit stout with the warmth and glow
Of purpose high upstirred;
A friend to love and a dream to share,
A task to carry through,
A man's-size load to lift and bear,
A will to dare and do.

A high heart and a glad song
And a clear and friendly hail,
And what if the fight is hard and long,
Good courage will not fail.
A sure step and a dream fair,
A stout soul and true,
A friend to love and a joy to share,
And a man's-size job to do!

FAMED WAR DRUM IN FILM NOW AT THE GATEWAY

This war-drum will have a quiet old age. From the blood-stained sands of Omdurman to the position of a "prop" in George Melford's Paramount production, "The Light that Failed," is the brief outline of the life story of a "tom-tom." Brought to Hollywood by Dick Richards, a British veteran, a Dervish tom-tom plays a part in the Port Said scenes of this picture.

Richards secured the drum in Port Said in 1911. It was carried by the Dervish warriors on that September day, a quarter of a century ago, when twenty-two thousand British troops under Kitchener defeated forty thousand natives in the terrible battle of Omdurman.

No one knows how old the drum is and how often its wild, rolling thunders incited the desert warriors to battle can only be guessed at.

Featured in "The Light That Failed," which comes to the Gateway theater today, are Jacqueline Logan, Percy Marmont, Sigrid Holmquist and David Torrence.

LEAH BAIRD IN THRILLING FILM AT THE GLENDALE

A picture of spectacular thrills is that at the Glendale theater today. It is a drama of divorce and devotion with Leah Baird as the star and a most excellent supporting cast. The name of this great play is most unique, "Is Divorce a Failure?" We usually ask "Is marriage a failure?" This takes the opposing view, wherein a much-tried wife secures a divorce and then the play brings out whether or not she made a failure of her life by so doing.

Then there's a Sunshine comedy, "Do or Die," and Paul Carson is at the organ.

MANY BOOKS ON HOME BUILDING AT CITY LIBRARY

For practical information that may be applied to actual house-building, as well as better appreciation of good architecture, one will not have to look farther than some of the recent books along these topics that have been added to the shelves of the Glendale libraray. These include the following:

"Old New England Houses," by Albert G. Robinson. A book that will appeal not only to the lovers of the old New England traditions but in a very practical way to architects and anyone contemplating building of a home. Another book by this same author is "Old New England Doorways," there being scarcely a type of the colonial doorway that is not represented here.

"Designs for American Homes," by H. G. Outwater, illustrated with fifty sets of plans of interiors and exteriors for the modern American homes.

"The Dutch Colonial House," by Aymar Embury II. This book describes the Dutch colonial or the gambrel roof type, which was developed by the old Dutch settlers of New York and New Jersey.

"The Construction of the small House," by H. Vandervoort Walsh. A book of practical instruction for anyone who intends to build or alter an old house.

"The Significance of the Fine Arts," ten essays on the arts, edited by the committee on education of the American Institute of Architects.

"The Enjoyment of Architecture" by Talbot F. Hamlin. A series of chapters that introduce architecture as a living art. This book will help the reader to understand why a building is beautiful or where it is lacking and makes him acquainted with the elements and underlying principles of the architecture he sees.

"The Book of the Pearl," by Dr Geo. Frederick Kunz and Dr. Chas Hugh Stevenson, both notable scientists and authorities, is a most interesting volume and contains all possible pearl knowledge and history.
